NALGENE®

Large Funnels

Efficient Design Fills Faster and
More Precisely

No more slow flows
or "gurgling."
Large, high-density
polyethylene fun-
nels have internal
and external ribs
that let entrapped
air escape.

Specifications: No.
77250 has a funnel
top I.D. of 201mm;
stem top O.D. of 23mm; and an overall height of 245mm. No.
77251 has a funnel top I.D. of 258mm; stem top O.D. of 21mm;
and an overall height of 300mm.

KIMAX®

Glass Funnels

Funnels' Angle
Encourages
Faster Filtration

Exclusive 58° angle
on liquid funnels
promotes more rapid filtration by suspending the standard 60°
paper filter cone by its uppermost edges; uses more of the conical area for filtration.

Specifications: Liquid funnels have heavy, uniformly thick walls with molded rims, and short fire-polished stems for long service life. High resistance to chemical attack and mechanical and thermal shock. Powder funnels have a fire-polished rim with a shorter and wider 1½"L stem.

Polypropylene Funnels

Transfer liquids and powders easily without spills.

Specifications: Unbreakable, chemical-resistant polypropylene.
Liquid Funnels hold filters securely. Parallel stem on Powder Funnels minimizes "bridging" of powder. Funnel Sets include two funnels of each size. Liquid and Powder Funnels are both autoclavable and heat resistant to 275°F/135°C. Carboy/Drum Funnels are ideal paired with large containers such as drums or when you want to reduce spillage or pour faster. Autoclavable and heat resistant to 250°F/121°C. Nos. 27890 and 27891 have a handle at the rim.

What's the difference between liquid and powder funnels?

Liquid Funnels have a smaller stem opening to reduce splash and gurgling, preventing spills and messes.

Powder Funnels have a wide stem opening to allow for better flow.
